

STANDING ORDER NO.377/2009

SECURITY AUDIT OF SENIOR CITIZENS

Senior citizens living alone or with spouses are soft targets for criminals, as they are unable to defend themselves. Delhi Police has identified over 8,500 such senior citizens living in Delhi. Ensuring their safety and security is of paramount importance. Security audit of the residential premises of senior citizens should be done in a comprehensive manner with the concurrence of the latter. This audit should not be limited to a single visit or a single piece of advice to the senior citizens, but should include advising the senior citizens regarding installation of certain basic security equipment like door-chain, magic eye, iron grills, safety locks etc. It should also include advice regarding verification of all types of domestic help, including servants, maids, drivers, washer-men, malis, etc. engaged by them. It may be difficult for some senior citizens to go to shops or find contractors for arranging the required materials, labour, security equipment etc. Therefore, the local police should also use their good offices to help them out by facilitating the availability of labour and material on payment basis.

A check list after conducting security assessment of senior citizens is enclosed as Annexure-I. The Nodal Officer of the police station i.e. Inspector (ATO) shall visit the residence of the senior citizen and initiate the security audit. This can be followed up by the Division/Beat officer. Finally, the Nodal Officer must again check-up whether the shortcomings in the senior citizen's security have been removed or not. He shall talk to the senior citizens, broadly assess their financial capabilities without asking any probing questions in this regard and then advise them regarding installation of the required security gadgets. The Nodal Officer and the Division/Beat Officers will continue to meet the senior citizens until all the issues pertaining to their security are resolved.

The progress made in this regard shall be monitored by the SHO from time-to-time who himself will visit as many such premises as he can. Similarly, the sub-divisional ACP will fix the target for each police station for each day and monitor the progress. The Deputy Commissioners of Police of the districts and the Joint Commissioners of Police (Ranges) will monitor the progress on a weekly basis.

The Senior Citizen Cell functioning in the Police Headquarters will keep a tab on the progress made in the districts fortnightly. This will also be discussed in the CP's Fortnightly Law & Order meeting. The District DCsP must selectively meet with the senior citizens in the area personally. Feed back postcards can also be sent from the Joint CP/PHQ (Nodal Officer) so that we can assess the level of satisfaction of the senior citizens.

It may be underscored that the participation of the senior citizens is totally voluntary and they have to decide whether they want police assistance or not. It is, therefore, essential that this is explained in the first contact itself. We may, nevertheless, advise the senior citizens regarding the benefits of having a security audit conducted and the need for them to be aware of essential security requirements.

(Yudhbir Singh Dadwal)
Commissioner of Police,
Delhi.
